CUT	DESCRIPTION	LOCATION
EYE FILLET	eye fillet is the most highly prized of all steak cuts. coming from a muscle on the animal that is worked the least, considered at its best not cooked beyond medium rare. very lean, tender & extremely healthy.
RUMP	lean meat that comes from the powerful hindquarters of the animal. similar to a sirloin but less tender.
PORTERHOUSE	the porterhouse is a composite steak coming from the point where the tenderloin and top loin meet.
SCOTCH FILLET & RIB EYE	scotch fillet (bone out) & rib eye (bone in). cut from the ribs section, tender & generally fattier than the other cuts. they are very succulent & juicy cuts.
T-BONE	perhaps the most quintessential steak. combines two lean tender cuts, top loin and sirloin (without as much as the tenderloin) muscle connected by a tell tale 't' shaped bone.

LITTLE JOE'S
premium, natural grass fed, worthy alternative to Wagyu, with rich marbling minimum ms 4+

TAJIMA
the most famous of all wagyu bloodlines, originates from Hyogo prefecture in Japan

MARBLE SCORE (MS)
refers to visible fat found between muscle fibre bundles

WAGYU
"japanese cow" is genetically predisposed to intense marbling & produces a high percentage of unsaturated fat. the meat is known for its quality
